THE MAGAZINE FOR DEMAND-DRIVEN LOGISTICS • AUGUST 2016

RETAIL LOGISTICS:
WHEN FAST
ISN'T FAST ENOUGH

Cargo restraints manufacturer Midwest Precision Products (MPP) collaborated with thermoforming and structural foam molding company Robinson Industries to create eco-friendly systems that combine its "seatbelts for pallets" with Robinson's returnable synthetic pallets. The eco-friendly system is made with a structural foam base and vacuum form lid with totes placed between them. Two trays make up a layer, and multiple stacks go up based on the shipper's need. The MPP retractable belts attach and reattach per repeatable loading/unloading operation.
